

PRESS RELEASE

for Fractional Property Investing

20 March 2015

DomaCom collaborates with CentralPropertyExchange.com.au

World first regulated fractional property fund DomaCom has announced its support for centralpropertyexchange.com.au (CPx), a ground breaking new property listing portal that allows investors to access property without the middleman.

According to General Manager, Sales and Marketing of DomaCom Warren Gibson, CPx provides a better way to access and invest in Australian properties.

“It is the perfect collaboration. DomaCom fractional property fund allows thousands more people in Australia to invest in property without the need to purchase an entire property, and CPx provides access to independently listed properties, saving buyers thousands of dollars in added fees and charges.” Said Mr Gibson.

He continues, “CPx is an Australian first, and it is ideal for our financial services professionals and their clients to buy or sell properties directly. With key controls in place like Independent Property Reports (IPR) to grade listed properties, both buyers and sellers get fair and independent representation.”

The CPx platform can now be accessed directly from the DomaCom website (<http://www.domacom.com.au/>).
